CATARRH CURED.

CORINTH, MISS., PED. 10, 1857.

SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANYA, GA:

Gentlemen—Eversince I came out of the war, up to two years ago, I had catarrh. At times the disease was very offensive. I tried all the doctors that I could see, and nearly every catarrh medicine that I saw advertised; but I got no permanent relief until two years ago, when I began taking E. S. S. I felt immediate benefit from the medicine, and after taking six bottles I felt like a new man. When I began using the medicine I was in a very bad condition; my digestion was poor, I had rheumatic pains in my knees, and my feet were newed to a seed using the medicine after the six bottles, because I felt so well that I thought I was entirely cured. This past fall, however, I had a relapse—evidently I had stopped taking S. S. too soon. So I at once began with the medicine, and I am happy to tell you that I am very much improved, my general health being excellent, and the catarrh rapidly disappearing.

I have great faith in S. S. S. for catarrh and SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.: being excellent, and the same appearing.

Thave great faith in S. S. S. for catarrh and blood impurities, and I recommend it to all my neighbors who are sick. Yours truly, C.C. KEY.

MISSING A GOOD CHANCE

TO ADMINISTER DEFEAT TO BOSTON'S STRONG TRAM.

Miserable Fielding Exhibition-Bot Nines Indulge Generally in That Respect-A Dropped Fly Ball the Umpire Could Not See-General Turi

The lowering weather yesterday afternoon had the effect of preventing more than 1,400 spectators witnessing the base ball game between the Washington and Boston clubs. Those, however, who enter-tained no fear for the storm signal sent out by the weather bureau were well repaid for their trip to Capitol Park, as the contest was exciting throughout and resulted in a tie game, each nine scoring seven runs, when the exhibition was called on account of darkness, so said the umpire. Notwithstanding the threatening weather a large number of the assemblage present were of the fair sex and they were unanimous in the opinion that had the Statesmen received just treatment at the hands of the "much just treatment at the hands of the "much abused" umpire the local team would have won the game. In this respect they were undoubtedly correct, for if Mr. Powers had shown his usual good judgment he would not have made as many bad breaks as he did. The particular instance to which attention is called is that of the ball O'Brien knocked to Hornung in the eighth inning, and which that playor palpably muffed, but Mr. Powers declared he caught on the fly. Had it been declared not out, as should have been done, it would have given the home team the game beyond question. Mr. Powers should not have permitted himself to be deceived by Hornung's trick, who, when he dropped the bail, turned around, with his back to the spectators, in order, as is his usual custom, to fool the runner to take the chances for an additional base. There is no doubt but what Hornung dropped the sphere, as the attendants in the left field, who put up the scores of the games in other Lesgue c.ties by inning on the black-board erected for that purpose at Capitol Park, were near enough to Joe to clearly perceive his misplay, and they were unanimous is saying that Hornung had muffed the ball.

He it true or not that the sheepskin was muffed, still the Washingtons should have abused" umpire the local team would have mous is saying that Hornung had muffed the ball.

Be it true or not that the sheepskin was muffed, still the Washingtons should have won, as they had a winning lead, and it was dollir is to cents that they would come out victorious. Through costly errors, however, their opponents were enabled to come in at the home stretch, and, from a racing point of view, the game can aptly be described as a dead heat. Madden, the Boston's kid pitcher, who is only 20 years old, and weighs 103 pounds, was put in to fill the points for the boys from the Hub. The Washington fielders, when a close play came to band, were not equal to the occasion. They fumbled balls, threw wildly, and acted as amateurs. This playing was doubtless occasioned in part on account of the abominable condition of the grounds, but he it said to the Statesmen's credit they did equally as well in the field as the visitors, and that is not saying much, as the Bostons seemed to be tied to a certain spot, and fielded in a miserable manner.

Play was called two minutes before the advertised hour, and in the first inning neither side was able te get a man round the diamond. In the second a like result, but in the first half of the third admirers of the Washingtons sent up a mighty shout of delight, as the local boys secured three the diamond. In the second a like result, but in the first half of the third admirers of the Washingtons sent up a mighty shout of delight, as the local boys secured three runs. This total was made on Whitney getting to first base on Kelly's fumble. The next two strikers were retired without advancing Jim a base. Then Carroll came to the rescue, and on his base hit to right field the Washingtons' star pitcher ran to third. Carroll only waited until the first half was pitched when he started for second, and on Tate's low throw to head Cliff off Whitney secored. Schoch went to first on five called balls: and on Kelly's error and a base hit by Hines Carroll and Schoch crossed the plate. The visitors also made a run in this inning on a force out, an error, and a base hit by Hornung. The fourth inning was non-productive of tallies for ofther side, but in the first half of the fourth the Washingtons began to still further increase their lead, and on four clear base hits, a base en balls, and numerous errors by the bean-caters four uncarned runs were added to the Senators' total. This appeared to be a winning lead and jubilant were Washingtonians. Home partisans reckoned with uncertairty in this respect as in the Bostons' half of the seventh inning they made five runs. This result was attained on fumbled grounders, wild throws, three-base hits, and a general demoralization on the nine backing Whitney. Big Jim did not lose his temper, however, and drove the ball over the plate with such telling effect that it was not until the last half of the ninth inning that the "Kellytics" were enabled to gain the coveted run by which they tied the contest. This tally was made ninth inning that the "Kellyites" were enabled to gain the coveted run by which they tied the contest. This taily was made on Tate's three-bagger and Conway's sacrifice hit. The tenth inning was commenced, but before it was completed the game was called back to the ninth and thereby resulted a tie.

No particular brilliant plays were executed, and outside of the even and steady battery work no noteworthy fielding features occurred. Tate, Whitney, and Schoch did the best batting. The score:

JOLLY SOLDIER BOYS.

Louisville. The regular business meeting of the National Rifles was held last night at their National Rifles was held last night at their armory, and it was possibly the jolliest meeting they ever had. Col. Robert I. Fleming presented the "loving cup" (donated by Mr. H. B. Russell, of the Rook-wood pottery). It was accepted by Capt. Oyster in a short, pithy speech. Addresses were made by several members. Capt. Ernest McPherson, of company A, 1st regiment of the Louisville Legion, was also present. He was there as a special messenger from the Legion to the Rifles, bearing a pressing invitation to that company to take part in a competitive drill which will be held at Louisville on the 334 instant. All the members of the drill coam were not prevent, but it is certain that the invitation will be accepted.

This announcement, ominous as it is of the future of the Anglo-Irish political situation, is given but an obscure place in the European dispatches. Nevertheless it is of the highest importance. In the first place it is a virtual withdrawal of theless it is of the highest importance. In the first place it is a virtual withdrawal of Mr. Gladstone's opposition to the "crimes act." In the next place it is a notification to the late premier's liberal followers that any further parliamentary obstruction to that act is not only uscless, but that it has a tendency to alienate the support of the English people from the party of which Mr. Gladstone has been so long the leader. The Democratic organs are unspating in their censure of both the matter and manner of the speech. They cannot brook being told that there is still a solid south, still a confederate Democracy, and still a determination to dominate the country by the use of those damnable agencies which have been so potent in the south for the past ten or twelve years. They are particularly restive on being told that, had it not been for the suppression of the ballot is half a dozen southern states, through intimidation and terrorism, Mr. Blaine would to-day be filling the seat occupied by Mr. Cleveland.

St. Louis Globe-Democrat: The Democrats will find it very difficult to repel even in a partial way Senator Sherman's Springfield assault upon the record and position of their party. They cannot hope that the stale cry of "bloody shirt" will serve to refute or obscure the facts which he presents with so much care and force. He is not a man who makes random charges and assertions. What he says with regard to the suppression of suffrage in the south is a matter of history and of well-vouched current report. The election returns alone are sufficient to justify his accusations of systematic fraud and violence. It is admitted, indeed, by the southern press and politicians that the colored element has been so dealt with that, practically speaking, it counts for nothing in polities. No intelligent person can be made to believe for a moment that if elections in that section was conducted with reasonable fairness and decency, every state, county, and school district would be carried by the Democratic party, and that Republican organizations would be constantly disappearing and Republican voters staying away from the polis as if they had no interest in public affairs, and no desire to exercise the right of cliftzenship.
